Italian auxiliary equipment manufacturer Piovan is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

Piovan introduced its first equipment, a pelletizer and a press feeder, to the Italian market in 1964. The company now has five production facilities in Italy, Germany, Brazil, China and the US. It manufactures a wide range of auxiliary equipment for the plastics industry, including feeding, blending, drying and recycling systems.

In addition, Piovan produces industrial refrigerators and temperature controllers, as well as monitoring and control software.
